

Body blow for coffin calender

RIVAL coffin-makers are in a fight to the death - over who invented the idea of using these heavenly bodies to sell their caskets.

Przełącz Tweet 0 Share 0 Share 0

Published 15th October 2009

The raunchy Italian coffin calender

Italian makers Cofanifunebri launched a raunchy calender this month claiming to be the first in the world with the dust to bust idea.

But Polish casket experts Lindner have branded them grave robbers and say them came up with the calender idea years ago.

Furious Lindner boss, Barthosz Lindner, said "Our Polish girls are prettier and our coffins are better and more exclusive. It is our idea."

But the Rome-based company say they had used the wives and girlfriends of employees for calendars in the past - and it was just a spontaneous idea to hire glamour models for the gothic-style shoot in an old church.

A Cofanifunebri spokesman told the Austrian Times: "We also produce a 'fashion line' of coffins including ones in the colours of the city's football teams AS Roma and Lazio."

But the Poles say they came up with the idea first / europics.at

$20 ZA DARMO PRZY PIERWSZEJ WPŁACIE

ZAGRAJ TERAZ

PokerStars.pl

PLAYLIST MORE

0 Comments

Jason and Union J can Rulo the world

AMBITIOUS Union J plan to flip the standard expectations of a boyband when they drop their first album - thanks to help from US pop king Jason Derulo.

0 Comments

Amelia Lily is no silly billy

0 Comments

Conor Maynard is getting guy appeal

0 Comments

0 Comments